COMMUNITIES INVOLVED

- All 98 collaborations (100%) will work with and alongside communities that CRNY stated as priorities when the Artist Employment Program launched: Black, Indigenous, People of Color, LGBTQIAP+, Deaf/Disabled, criminal legal system involved, low-income, and/or rural.
- 9 of the 98 collaborations (9%) engage Deaf or Disabled communities.

ABOUT THE SELECTION PROCESS

- CRNY received 2,741 applications.
- 167 collaborations were shortlisted to advance to stage two, during which all artists and organizational representatives in a collaboration participated in a joint interview.
- 20 peer reviewers from across the state joined 4 members of the CRNY staff to read proposals and conduct stage two interviews. This group of external reviewers identifies in the following ways:
 - 80% Black, Indigenous, or People of Color
 - 10% people with Disabilities
 - 40% based outside of New York City and 15% rural, representing 15 counties across the State
 - 20% men, 75% women, and 5% nonbinary
- To honor and account for the large number of proposals from Indigenous artists and communities around the state, 3 of the 20 external peer reviewers (15%) were Indigenous. In addition to reviewing and interviewing a diverse range of applications in both stages of the selection process, these reviewers convened a dedicated panel to discuss and provide feedback on Indigenous applications after all second-round interviews were completed.
